ALSM WEBSITE HOME PAGE DESIGN

1. BANNER AT TOP OF HOME PAGE:

"Australian Large Scale Models invites you to the Festival of Aeromodelling 2026"

"4th – 12th of July 2026" "Inglewood Aerodrome"

2. BLURB ABOUT ALSM:

Australian Large Scale Models (ALSM) began as a simple Facebook group, created by an individual with a passion for large scale model aircraft and a desire to share that passion with others. What started as a small online community has grown over more than a decade into one of the largest and most active aeromodelling groups in the world, now boasting over 16,200 members.

In 2020, ALSM took the next step by hosting its first large scale flying event at Tin Can Bay. The success of that inaugural gathering laid the foundation for something much bigger. Since 2022, ALSM has proudly hosted the Festival of Aeromodelling annually in Inglewood, Queensland, each July.

Today, the Festival of Aeromodelling is Australia's largest RC aeromodelling event, attracting pilots and enthusiasts from across Australia and overseas. ALSM continues to celebrate craftsmanship, scale realism, and the shared love of flight that brings the aeromodelling community together.

3. ALSM'S PREMIER EVENT:

The Vision of the Festival of Aeromodelling started with members of the Australian Large Scale Models fulfilling the dream to be able to attend the World's Largest RC Fun Fly, Joe Nall in the state of South Carolina, USA.

It was from attending such an event that a group of like-minded Australian Aeromodellers came together to help recreate the equivalent for the Australian Aeromodelling Community, to which the Festival of Aeromodelling was born.

4. THANK YOU

We would like to say thank you to the Goondiwindi Regional Council for their ongoing support with Australian Large Scale Models. (WITH COUNCIL LOGO)

5. BOTTOM OF HOME PAGE:

"Can't make it to an Australian Large Scale Models event, or new to aeromodelling? You can find local flying events and information on how to get into the hobby through the Model Aeronautical Association of Australia or via your state association below."

Plain coloured banner to match with website – on banner has national + state association's logos and when you hit the logo it sends you to their website. (Put MAAA [national] followed by MAAQ [qld])